SECURES SUPPLIES FOR HIS OURY MINE

David Kile is in the city from the Oury mine, located about two miles south of Crown King, which is being developed by himself and C. J. Kimball. He reports satisfactory progress being made in a new cross cut tunnel, which he recently started in the mountain to tap the vein, which is developed by two shafts 25 feet deep and a number of open cuts and other surface diggings. There are four locations in the group, two of which cover what is known as the Cougar vein. This vein is in a slate and porphyry contact, and where opened shows a width of four feet of mineralized filling, the rich ore occurring in veinlets, some of which samples as high as 500 ounces in silver to the ton.

The property is within easy reach of the Crown King terminus of the Bradshaw Mountain railroad, with which it is connected by wagon road. Wood for fuel and mining purposes is within easy reach, as well as an ample supply of water.

Mr. Kile is in town to purchase supplies and meet his partner, Mr. Kimball, who returned yesterday from a visit to Gold Roads, Mohave county, where he has mining interests. They are among the old time miners of the district and are confident that they will have one of the richest mines in the Bradshaws when the cross cut tunnel taps the vein, which has paid so well out of its grassroots development.

NEW NOVA SCOTIA RAILROAD.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 22.—The Halifax & Southwestern railway was today opened for business between Yarmouth and this city. The line, which has been under construction for some years, extends along the south shore of Nova Scotia, touching Shelburne, Liverpool, Lunenburg, Bridgewater and other points.

SINKING A NEW SHAFT ON HIS MINE

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Firm in the belief that he is the owner of one of the great mining properties of the Big Bug district, in the North American mine which he is developing, C. P. Wingfield, the Huron merchant, left yesterday for home, after transacting important business here. Speaking of his property to a Journal-Miner man, Mr. Wingfield said:

"I have a force of men sinking a shaft on the North American mine which is now down to a depth of 75 feet. This shaft is being sunk on a porphyry and gossan dyke which parallels the Swindler mine, being opened by G. W. Hull. A cross cut shows the ledge to be 30 feet in width, between walls carrying values all the way across of from $5 to $6 in copper and gold to the ton. As soon as the shaft is sunk past the 100 foot level a station will be cut and levels and cross cuts run and the ore taken out and shipped to the Humboldt smelter. The ore is of such a character that it is easily smelted and the body is so large that I anticipate it can be mined and shipped at a good profit. I own only two locations but that is enough for one man of this kind of property."

Continuing Mr. Wingfield said that he had sunk a shaft on a branch ledge from the dyke to a depth of 50 feet, from the bottom of which a cross cut had been run a distance of 40 feet, the entire vein all the way across sampling $3 to the ton in gold. The ore from this vein is of a different character from that found in the main ledge insofar as it carries little copper values. The property is located one-fourth of a mile distant from Huron station, on the Bradshaw Mountain railroad.

BICYCLISTS ON A TOUR OF THE WEST

Touring the great West on bicycles and making pictures of its numerous points of interest as they go, C. L. Wright and J. C. Wright, two brothers, of Springfield, Mo., arrived here Sunday from the north, and will continue on their journey south today in the direction of California, intending to winter in the Golden State.

They left their home July 16, and proceeding west through Kansas reached Colorado in the latter part of August. After visiting all of the principal cities of Colorado and its different points of interest, they continued to New Mexico and this Territory, visiting all of the Indian villages of which they had heard or read, including the Zuni Indians of Arizona, where they were caught in the late snow storm, being snowed in for several days.

Their next unpleasant experience with the weather was in the petrified forest, where they were obliged to camp during a heavy rain storm, having at times to carry their wheels on their backs when beating a retreat in the direction of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad. After a tour of California, they will return home by the way of Portland, Seattle and the Yellowstone Park, expecting to reach Springfield in time to assist in harvesting the next wheat crop.

Fred Johnson, who started with them, got homesick in Colorado, and returned to his father's fireside, vowing never again to brave the experiences of a trip through the Rockies.

NEW LABORATORY.

Yesterday afternoon Sines & Rockmark commenced the building of a laboratory and assay office for the new firm of Haggott, Girard, Smith Co. on the back part of the lot partially occupied by the K. of P. building, where the new firm has established offices. The contractors expect to have the new building finished about the first of the ensuing year.

BANK ROBBERED.

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 21.—The Torreon branch bank of Comilla, at Torreon, Mexico, was robbed three days ago of $30,000 in gold and bills. The robbery was concealed in the hope of apprehending the robbers. No clue as yet.

Oliver Dean, foreman of the Copper Creek Consolidated Mining company, is spending the holidays in the city.

INSANE MEXICAN COMMITTED TO ASYLUM

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Haggard and worn in appearance and shrinking from association with those about him, Jesus Contreras, a middle-aged Mexican, was arraigned yesterday, in the Probate Court, on an insanity charge, and ordered committed to the Territorial Asylum for the Insane.

Expert testimony was not necessary to establish the fact that the unfortunate man had almost entirely lost his reasoning powers. His every act indicated that his mind was unbalanced, his answers to questions propounded to him through an interpreter being disconnected and irrational, the vacant stare in his eyes adding further evidence to the fact that he had entirely lost his mind.

In an erratic way he stated he had lived twenty-five years in Arizona, but did not know where he was born or how he got here, or where he came from. The only enjoyment he appeared to find in life is talking or singing to himself when away from the companionship of others, resenting the interference of anybody in his affairs and getting out of their sight as quick as opportunity offers. When forced into a conversation he talks in an unintelligent way, appearing to have no memory, and relapses into a conversation with himself as soon as he imagines himself alone, indulging in a hearty laugh at times when he ends the singing of one of his favorite songs.

He was arrested near Walker four days ago by Deputy Sheriff Homer Bowdre, after he had wandered aimlessly through the mountains for ten days previous, and was in an emaciated condition when taken into custody. During his rambles around Walker he frightened a number of women by his queer actions but did not attempt to commit any act of violence.

He will be taken to the insane asylum near Phoenix today.

AGED MAN DIES.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, E. Van Patten died at the hospital, the immediate cause of death being paralysis. The deceased was aged about 70 years, and was a native of New York. He leaves no immediate relatives in this section, his wife having preceded him to the grave two and one-half years ago. He had been a resident of Skull and Kirkland Valleys for a number of years, and was a man who commanded the respect and esteem of all who knew him. His remains will be interred in the Citizens' Cemetery, Wednesday next.

STARTS BUSTER MILL.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Frank Reynolds, the millman and engineer, came in last evening from the Buster mine, in the Bradshaw Mountains, where he repaired the mill and started it running on ore from the mine. He considers the Buster property among the most promising of the large number of mines in the district and predicts a great future for it. He says the management is more than pleased with the showing made in the mine since its development was commenced only a few months ago, large ore bodies being now exposed in all the openings of the vein.

Mr. Reynolds will leave today for Pinal county, where he is the owner of very promising property for the purchase of which negotiations are now pending.
